The Latest Goodrem Release...

Karen Goodrem has definitely made her mark in the D:Raf Recording Studio. Her recent release 'Unbreakable' suggests Karen is here to stay as she depicts the battles we go through in day to day life.

"Karen is extremely professional and has mastered her vocals – allowing her to perform exactly what the track needs to be a hit," explains D:Raf. As you listen to the single it develops a strong pulse that, when matched with Karen's natural emotion, paves the way for a new D:Raf masterpiece. There has been a lot of support for the song on social media and a large push to get Karen back into the studio to further capture her amazing vocal talent.

- Danny Rafael

“A huge thank you to Danny Raphael for everything,” remarks Karen. The final product speaks for itself, where all aspects of the production have been scrutinised to achieve the highest audio quality and listener satisfaction.

D:Raf has also been very impressed with Karen’s vocals that feature on a new release by Paul Mahady. “Danny played her track in the studio, and I was instantly drawn to Karen’s emotional connection on that particular track, and I thought she would be perfect to complete my project,” Paul comments.

One haunting track on the project is ‘Falling Slowly,’ from the play ‘Once.’ It features Karen and Paul singing a duet which takes the listener on a fantastic journey. Beautifully performed by both singers, it is sure to please all fans. Paul was extremely impressed with the final mix, particularly with how well Karen complements his own vocals.

At D:Raf Recording Studios there are many opportunities to collaborate with other artists of both similar and different genres. Collaboration projects are also a great way to build up your fan base. D:Raf encourages collaboration with international artists and producers to create interesting music that is influenced by the different corners of the globe. “This is a great way to test the waters on what music is currently doing well in different parts of the world,” Danny boasts. D:Raf Recording Studio creates not only great music, but is a great networking venue for artists of all styles.
